A THRILLING ADVENTURE.

The town of Liverpool, in Nova Scotia,

situated about sixty miles from Halifax,

is a place of some magnitude for a colonial outpost. It is, and always has been, remarkable for the activity and enterprise of its people, and for the wealth and well being of all who choose to be industrious and incline to lay up worldly goods. The intercourse with Halifax, the capital of the province, was, at the period of which we speak, chiefly kept up by a smart and dashing little craft, called the Liverpool Packet, commanded by Captain Bass, which plied weekly between the two places throughout the spring and summer months, laying up during the severity of the winter, when the communication with Halifax was, for the most part, limited to a weekly post by land.

About the year 1815 or 1816, as the season for navigation was drawing to a close, a great number of passengers went to Halifax, as was the custom, to replenish their stores for the winter, while many heads of families proceeded thither

to purchase clothing, groceries, &c., for their private winter stock; and as this was to be the last trip of the season, the little barque was crowded with some fifty or fifty passengers, chiefly fathers and mothers of large families who were left at home.

The voyage to Halifax was prosperous.

The voyagers made their purchases, and in due time the Liverpool Packet was ready to return. All the passengers embarked in good spirits and the barque

sailed cheerily down the harbor, and proceeded for her destination.

A few hours after her departure there sprang up one of those terrific northwesters, so well known on the coast of Nova Scotia, and blowing with the utmost fury

for several days, attended with intense frost. It was clear that no vessel could keep the coast; she must either put herself

before the wind and run out to sea, or all perish miserably by wreck and the rigor of an atmosphere twenty or thirty degrees below zero. A change of weather so sudden, so severe, and so unexpected, gave rise to great fears for the safety of the little packet and the next post by land was anxiously waited for by friends and relatives at both towns.

The post at length arrived, but brought

no tidings of the Liverpool Packet;

another post and another came in, and yet no news of the missing vessel. Search was then made along the shore to see if the wreck could be found, but not a vestige could be discovered. The bold began to doubt, and the timid to despair, and the opinion was at last arrived at that the vessel had been blown off the coast, or sunk in a gale. If the latter, she and her passengers were, of course, irretrievably gone, as no person would live in boats in such weather; if the former, there was still hope that the next arrival from Ber-

musda would bring some intelligence.

We will not attempt to describe the deplorable state of mind of the people in the once happy little town, for nearly all

had a relative on board, either father, mother, brother or sister. Prayers were put up in the churches, and a gloom manled over the countenances of every one.

Advises were in due time received from Bermuda, but nothing was heard from the little packet and her passengers. Accounts were also received from several of the West India Islands, but still without intelligence of the missing vessel.

Three months at length passed away,

and the packet was given up for lost.

Those who had friends on board went into mourning, and prayers were even offered up for the repose of the souls of the departed; and so connected were the different families with each other throughout the town that the Sunday on which all who had friends put on black, put nearly

the entire population in the habiliments of woe.

Four months had now passed away;

the mourners, notwithstanding their irreparable loss, were becoming reconciled to their bereavement; for there is a philosophy in the human heart which teaches us to bear with fortitude great losses, when

those of less severity are met with impatience. All hope had now fled; the vessel had, without doubt, foundered and gone to the bottom, with all on board;

but when, or in what part of the vast ocean, was to remain veiled in the secrets

of the deep until the sea should give up its dead.

Sixteen weeks had now elapsed, when

one fine morning in the spring some seafarer passing down in the Fort described a strange brig approaching the harbor. She attracted attention from the circumstance

that, although a stranger, she was navigated

by one who well knew the entrance of the harbor, for she came in without pilot or shortening sail. The quick eye and watchful habits of seamen could not lightly pass over such a circumstance, and the report of a stranger vessel coming in soon spread through the little town, and many persons assembled. The best telescopes were put in requisition, but none

could make out who or what the stranger

was. As she drew nearer to the anxious group, her deck was discovered to be crowded with male and female passengers.

"Ah!" exclaimed one who had a certain indefinable hope, as that hope sank within him, "an emigrant ship, after all," and a great multitude of individuals who are,

like blind mules, anxious enough to kick,

but can't tell where."

—In the Caucasus Mountains, at a place called Kadoce, it is stated a well of naphtha has been discovered. At the depth of two hundred and seventy-four feet from the surface the liquid was first struck, and for a month gave a supply of fifteen hundred barrels daily. Since then a fresh source has been met, and the naphtha rises with force to the height of forty feet above the ground, the jet being four inches in diameter, and delivering a daily

supply of eight thousand barrels.

—Josh Billings says: "There are a

great multitude of individuals who are,

like blind mules, anxious enough to kick,

but can't tell where."

—Carpenters pay heavy board bills.

"HOME, SWEET HOME."

Night dropped her shadowy veil over

London, and the mantle of mists that all day long had enveloped the city, grew more dense and fell in beaded drops of rain. The gas lights burned brightly at the corners, but it was a dreary night to be out in. Yet crowds filled the streets,

for even in night storms, the great thoroughfares are never deserted. Guilt and wretchedness are always wakeful and abroad. To realize the desolation of loneliness, one must be a stranger in a crowded

city, with a sensitive nature, and a refinement that shrinks from rude contacts, and unequalled companionship.

Alone in the country, with the blue sky

above us, and the green grass beneath our feet, there are charms that woo us to forgetfulness. There is music in the running stream and beauty in the flowers that grow upon its banks. Some German writer, I have forgotten who, calls flowers

the stars of earth and stars the flowers of heaven. Fair and radiant flowers they are and shed their brightness on the smokey wreathed city, but in their matchless,

Democratic State Ticket.

FOR AUDITOR GENERAL:
HON. CHARLES E. BOYLE,
Of Fayette County.

FOR SURVEYOR GENERAL:
GEN. WELLINGTON H. ENT,
Of Columbia County.

The Convention and the Ticket.

The Democratic State Convention, which convened in Harrisburg on the 4th inst., was one of the most harmonious and successful assemblages of the kind that has ever come together in Pennsylvania, and its proceedings throughout were marked with that unanimity of sentiment, fellowship of feeling and unity of purpose which unmistakably augurs the triumphant success of those great and glorious principles which alone can bring peace and good will to all the citizens of this distracted and suffering country. And while the Convention thus done its work well and harmoniously, and placed in nomination men of ability and integrity, albeit they are not the ones whom we deemed entitled to and urged for the positions, it plainly and unequivocally expressed the convictions, in the resolutions adopted, of every man in the Commonwealth who is not blinded by passion or misled by partizan bigotry. It has placed the Democracy in no equivocal or false position, but has enunciated a platform which cannot be misunderstood or gainsayed, and we feel confident that its work will be approved by the triumphant election of the men it has put forward as the standard-bearers of the party in the coming campaign.

The nominations, too, embody in the highest degree the elements of success. One of the candidates is from the western part of the State, and is a civilian, while the other is from the east, and has justly and honorably earned the title of soldier. But our readers will learn more fully who they are from the following brief sketches which we clip from the Harrisburg Patriot and Union:

Hon. CHARLES E. BOYLE, of Fayette County, for Auditor General, was a member of the Legislatures of 1866-7, but being a Democrat, he is not in the least chargeable with the corruption of the notorious assembly of 1867. On the contrary, during his career as a legislator he distinguished himself as an antagonist of all the corrupt and partisan measures which have rendered the memory of that body infamous. Mr. Boyle is a gentleman of honesty, suavity, and pure character in every respect. His abilities and general knowledge of law, legislation and finance eminently fit him for the position for which he has been selected.

Gen. WELLINGTON H. ENT, for Surveyor General, is at present a practicing lawyer of Columbia County, of which county he is a native. He graduated at the Law University at Albany, New York, a short time previous to the outbreak of the war, and had commenced the practice of law in Columbia, when the call to arms resounded through the land. Dropping his books and abandoning his practice, he shouldered a musket as a private in the Sixth Pennsylvania Reserve. From that time forth for a period of more than three years he participated in carving out the brilliant war record of that gallant regiment. Step by step he rose—from private to lieutenant, from lieutenant to captain, from captain to major, from major to lieutenant colonel, from lieutenant colonel to colonel, which latter position he honorably and bravely filled at the muster out of the Reserves, in 1864. He was in all the engagements fought by the Army of the Potomac during that strange eventful period—Drainesville, South Mountain, Antietam, &c.—and for his "distinguished services" he was brevetted a Brigadier General, at the close of the war. But General Ent does not rest alone upon his war record. His legal and business knowledge is fully equal to the discharge of the duties of the office for which he has been nominated. His rapid promotion in the army from the ranks to one of the most commanding positions is a sufficient guarantee that he is not only a brave man, but a man of great intellectual ability.

These are the men, fellow Democrats and conservatives, that you are called upon to support, and if you are true to yourselves, true to your country, and true to those principles which made and kept us a free, happy and prosperous people until the blighting and damnable curse of radicalism settled over the land and destroyed its peace and progress, you will go to work with the determination of doing all in your power to secure the honorable election of our candidates.

Hon. Geo. W. Woodward, Ex-Gov. Bigler and Packer, and Hon. Isaac Hiestler were chosen as Delegates at Large to the National Convention, while for our own district James Burns and Owen Clark, Esqs., were selected as Congressional Delegates, and Hon. C. L. Pershing named as Representative Elector. Emphatically the right men in the right places.

—Stanton cost hundreds of poor soldiers their lives by refusing to exchange "sound men for skeletons." He is now coating the country millions of dollars daily by the efforts of the Rump to keep him in office where he is not wanted and in which he has no right.

AN INFAMOUS ACT.

The following bill has been seriously read in the Legislature of this State and its adoption pressed upon the people's representatives. It is difficult to say what a Radical Legislature may do, but we be to that member who by his vote shall attempt to impose upon the citizens of Pennsylvania so infamous an enactment.

Its title should read "An Act to protect railroad companies and other corporations against redress for their own wrongs, and to curb courts and juries in the performance of their functions."

The first section gives to persons "lawfully engaged or employed" on the road, or about the cars, only such remedy as employees of the road would have—that is, no remedy at all for any injury! The second section puts a maximum value of $2,000 on loss of limbs and $5,000 on loss of life, and gravely instructs courts and juries that they cannot go higher! It would be just as fair and proper, though not as railroadish, to make the above sums the lowest damages. But the juries, according to this act, must not allow anything for the pain and suffering of the victim of negligence but what his actual loss in dollars and cents may amount to, and when that comes up to $2,000 or $5,000, according as limbs or life may have been sacrificed, then their judgment must cease under this Procrustean bed of railroad legislation.

But this section, absurdly as it seems to us, is made to apply not only to future accidents, but to those which have already occurred, and in which actions are now pending. No court of justice would give this clause any effect, and legislators who would become the tools of corporations in making this act a law would only stultify themselves in its passage.

We trust that there is still sufficient integrity at Harrisburg to give this iniquitous bill its quietus. Railroads should have fair play before the law, but we are unalterably opposed to all legislation which places a corporation above the citizen.

An Act relating to railroad companies and common carriers, defining their liabilities and authorizing them to provide means of indemnity against loss of life and personal injury.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That when any person shall sustain personal injury or loss of life while lawfully engaged or employed on or about the road, works, depots and premises of a railroad company, or in or about any train or car therein or thereon, of which company such person is not an employee, the right of action and recovery in all such cases against the company shall be such only as would exist if such person were an employee.

Section 2. That in all actions now or hereafter instituted against common carriers, or corporations, owning, operating, or using a railroad, as a public highway, whereon steam or other motive power is used, to recover for loss and damage sustained and arising either from personal injuries or loss of life, and for which by law such carriers or corporation could be held responsible, only such compensation for loss and damage shall be recovered as the evidence shall clearly prove to have been pecuniarily suffered or sustained, not exceeding, in case of personal injury, the sum of two thousand dollars, nor in case of loss of life the sum of five thousand dollars.

Section 3. That it shall be lawful for such carrier or corporation to insure the lives and persons of passengers against loss or injury from accidental causes, and however happening, while in their charge, and for that purpose to issue and sell to such passengers applying for the same tickets or policies of insurance, specifying the name of the insured, the premium charged, the particular trip or time covered by the policy, and the amount insured, not exceeding (except at the option of the said carrier or corporation) the sum of twenty-five dollars for each week of disability, for a period not longer than twenty-six weeks in case of personal injury, nor ten thousand dollars in case of death, and all premiums so received shall be kept separate and apart from the other receipts of said carrier or corporation, and shall not be liable for any other claim, debts or demands against such carrier or corporation than those arising out of said policies, and the amount of said premium and the securities in which the same are invested for the benefit and protection of such policyholders, shall be reported to the Auditor General annually as a part of the operations of such carrier or corporation, as is now provided for by the act entitled "An Act requiring railroad companies to make uniform reports to the Auditor General," approved the fourth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine. Provided, nevertheless, That it shall be lawful for any such carrier or corporation, in lieu of issuing tickets of insurance as aforesaid, to keep on sale at their ticket offices the policies of insurance or indemnity against personal injury or death resulting from accidental causes, issued by insurance companies, incorporated for any such purpose, as shall have an actual bona fide cash capital invested in securities approved by the Governor, State Treasurer and Auditor General of this Commonwealth, of at least two hundred thousand dollars.

Section 4. That all acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed, and any provisions in the acts incorporating such common carriers or corporations inconsistent herewith, shall be repealed upon the acceptance of the provisions of this act by such carriers or corporation, and upon the acceptance of the provisions hereof by any carrier or corporation the same shall become a part of its act of incorporation.

Section 5. That all acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed, and any provisions in the acts incorporating such common carriers or corporations inconsistent herewith, shall be repealed upon the acceptance of the provisions of this act by such carriers or corporation, and upon the acceptance of the provisions hereof by any carrier or corporation the same shall become a part of its act of incorporation.

Section 6. That all acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed, and any provisions in the acts incorporating such common carriers or corporations inconsistent herewith, shall be repealed upon the acceptance of the provisions of this act by such carriers or corporation, and upon the acceptance of the provisions hereof by any carrier or corporation the same shall become a part of its act of incorporation.

Platform of the Pennsylvania Democracy.

Resolved, That the happiness of the people and the preservation and continuance of our power as a Republic, depends upon the perpetuity of the Union and the preservation of the constitution, and the prompt restoration of each and all of the States to the enjoyment of their rights and functions in the Union, is essential to our progress, to our prosperity, and to the protection of our liberties; and Radical legislation is the sole barrier thereto.

2. That the Constitution of the United States is the supreme law; it is binding upon the people and upon every department of the Government, and it is the highest duty of those in and out of official place to yield implicit obedience to all its provisions until it is changed in the manner provided therein; that the recent attempts of the Legislative branch of the Government to usurp the power of the Executive and to destroy the independence of the Judiciary, the deliberate attacks upon the plainest provision of the Constitution, are in utter violation of its spirit, and tend to the overthrow of the Government itself.

3. That the Radicals in Congress have wronged from the people enormous sums of money which they have squandered in reckless extravagance; their system of taxation is ill devised, incongruous and inequitable, and they have mismanaged the large revenues thus obtained; that rigid economy in every branch of the public service, a decrease in the number of the officials, reduction in the army and navy, and a reform in the mode of the collection of the revenue are imperatively demanded, and only by these means can a reduction in the amount of taxation now imposed upon the industrial and manufacturing interest be attained and the payment of our indebtedness be assured.

4. That the Republican party is responsible to the country for the delay in the restoration of the Southern States to their just relations in the Union, and for the government of their people by military rule; that the purpose of these measures is to perpetuate Radical power through the votes of illiterate negroes, and that these are the great primary causes of the present prostrate condition of productive industry in all its departments.

5. That in enacting the Tenth of Office Law, the Legislative and Executive branches of the government, each for itself, had the right to judge of its constitutionality, and that, in so exercising the right, the Executive was but obeying that portion of his oath of office which requires him to "preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States," and that it is the right of every citizen to have questions involving the constitutionality of any law speedily adjudged by the Supreme Court of the United States, and of all the people to have said decisions enforced.

6. That the pending impeachment of the President of the United States is a gross and reckless abuse of power, without justifiable cause, and intended for the attainment of party purposes, at the sacrifice of the most vital interests of the country.

7. That a return to a specie paying basis at the earliest practicable moment is essential to the interest of the people and the prosperity of the nation.

8. That the national debt should be paid as rapidly as is consistent with the ability of the people and in accordance with the terms of the laws upon which its several loans are based.

9. That the five-twenty bonds and the legal tender notes are component parts of the same financial system, and until the Government is able to redeem the legal tenders in coin, the holders of those bonds should be required to receive legal tenders in payment.

10. That every species of property should bear its fair proportion of taxation, and that the exemption of Government bonds therefrom is unjust and inequitable.

11. That we recognize with emotions of the deepest gratitude the efforts of the gallant volunteer soldiery, who so freely took up arms to defend the flag and prevent the destruction of the Union; and that we denounce as an insult to them the efforts of the Radicals to prevent a restoration of the Union until negro supremacy is established in certain States, and negro equality made the rule in all.

12. That the naturalization of foreign born citizens place them upon the same footing as those born in the country, and it is the duty of the Government to see that all citizens, naturalized or native, are protected in their rights of life, liberty and property abroad, as well as at home, and that, in the view of the Democracy, the flag of the country ought and must be made to protect all our citizens.

HORRIBLE MURDER.—A most horrible murder occurred in Louisville on the afternoon of the 7th inst. Wm. Kriel, a butcher, seized his wife by the throat, threw her violently upon the floor, and drawing a six barreled revolver, fired; the ball entered just above the ear, producing death almost instantly. Kriel then placed the pistol to his head and fired, the ball glancing and inflicting a slight wound. At this moment a sister of Mrs. Kriel entered the apartment, whereupon Kriel fired at her several times, causing her to faint. Kriel then again discharged his pistol at her head, and ran, but was captured after a short chase. The cause assigned for the crime is that Mrs. Kriel, having received inhuman treatment at the hands of her husband, had gone to live temporarily with her mother. Kriel met her there on the day named, and, becoming enraged at her conduct, killed her.

—The past winter has been one of the severest ever known, both in this and other countries. In Algeria the suffering has been very great. In Russia, as we learn from a letter in a Paris paper, the cold has been intense. Terrific storms have added to the severities of the season in Great Britain. In this country, the continued severity of the weather, and the great amount of snow that has fallen, have been almost without a parallel.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

—An election for municipal officers of Plum Creek township and Ellerton borough, Armstrong county, Pa., took place on Friday and resulted in the success of the entire Democratic ticket, and with it a gain of forty over last fall. No recruits for Geary in that region.

—During the fierce storm of Sunday night the dead body of an unknown woman was found on one of the streets of Chicago, covered with snow. She was very thinly clad, and it was supposed had fallen down under the influence of intoxication, and frozen to death.

—A new system of steam heating has been put in operation in Boston. It is a system in which water is boiled by the heat furnished by ordinary gas burners, and it is reported that it is in operation in and thoroughly warms a Boston store, forty by eighteen feet, using only a half pint of water and two gas burners.

—Since last year the Democracy have gained 1,200 in Troy, 500 in Rochester, 304 in Rhinebeck, 300 in Lansingburg, 280 in Elmira, 250 in Utica, 217 in Volney, 150 in Millerton, and, also, in Yonkers, Corning, Batavia, Amenia, and other towns in New York "too numerous to mention." Thus are the impeachers being rebuked by the people!

—The riot at Ward's Island, New York harbor, which occurred on Thursday, was between emigrants sent there for hospital treatment. A large number of policemen were sent from the city who attacked the rioters with pistols and clubs and badly wounded about thirty of them—fracturing their skulls, breaking their arms, &c. Eighty-six of the emigrants were arrested.

—The Tribune says: Rochester has chosen a Democratic Mayor by a large majority, and of course there is great rejoicing among the faithful. The Union makes the majority 795, but does not give the complete vote. Last November the majority was 117. We acknowledge a clear defeat, and accept the rejoicings of the Democracy as one of the contingencies of the defeat.

—The hero of Snickersville was defeated in his own county on the 2d instant, and the delegates in favor of ex-Governor Curtin for Vice-President were elected. He tried the call-for-troops dodge to help his fortunes. But it would not do. The people are tired of this gingerbread soldier, and whenever his head appears above water even the members of his own party take a "shy at it."

—The Richmond correspondent of the New York Times mentions, as a sign of progress in Virginia, that a colored member of the Convention, recently sent one of the pages to one of the leading white members for a "chaw of tobacco," which was courteously sent in the form of a ten cent plug. Black gentlemen bit off a big quid and sent the remainder back. This is a touching evidence of returning harmony between the races.

—There is a general movement in the West for the purpose of getting the national capital removed from Washington to some place in the Mississippi Valley. Several Western cities have offered inducements for having the capital located within their limits, and now it is reported that the Iowa Legislature has passed a resolution in favor of removing the capital to some point in the West, and requesting the Iowa delegation in Congress to vote in accordance.

—A valuable horse was lost in Fall River, Mass., last week, by a singular accident. Above the manger, at which the horse stood, is a square hole in the floor of the room overhead, through which the hay is dropped. In the night, the horse managed, by climbing, to get his head through the hole, in quest of hay, and then so twisted his head that he could not withdraw it. He was found in the morning with his fore feet in the manger, dead from hanging.

—The returns from the town elections in Maine continue to show great Democratic gains. In Gorham the Radical majority last year of 120 was cut down to 35. The Democratic gain in Lewiston, set down at first as 208, is ascertained to be over 450 over last fall's election. In Saco the Democratic gain is 113. Cumberland has elected all Democrats, excepting town clerk. The Democratic gain in Bath is 104 over the election last fall, and over that of 1866, 541.

—A thoughtless girl living in a Western city answered a "personal advertisement" in a city paper, just for the fun of the thing. The first note led to three more, thus throwing herself into the hands of a scoundrel. Her father was surprised by the appearance of the villain at his store, who demanded $1500 for the four notes, and the father was forced to accede to his demands rather than have the notes written "just for fun" shown to all his friends and relations. This should be a lesson to every girl in the land.

—Three prisoners in the jail of Bartholomew county, Indiana, made their escape a few nights ago. The mode of escape was ingenious. The walls of the building are of limestone, and the stonepinner entered a flue in the solid stonework. The pipe was taken from the flue and the blaze of the hot coal fire thrown upon the stone. When the stones became sufficiently hot, cold water was thrown upon them causing them to flake off in large pieces. This was continued until a hole sufficiently large to admit of egress was made.

THE LAST MAN.—The "last man" of the Revolutionary War is John Gray, who lives with his step-daughter, Mrs. McElroy, in Brookfield township, Noble county, Ohio. He is one hundred and four years of age, having been born in Virginia, a few miles from Mt. Vernon, February 6, 1764. He was at the siege of Yorktown when in his eighteenth year, but never obtained a pension until a year or two since, when it was granted to him by a special act of Congress, through the efforts of Hon. John A. Bingham. He is now nearly helpless, his hearing bad, and his eyesight nearly gone, yet he can walk on crutches. He has been a great tobacco chewer all his life, to which his premature decay is probably attributable.

STICK SUMMER.

It is perhaps a pleasant trait of human nature, that great men remain in the minds of the multitude more vividly portrayed, more familiar like by the utterance of a single word, than by all the long histories or voluminous biographies written about them.

The veni, vidi, vici, of Caesar points vividly the dead body of an unknown woman was found on one of the streets of Chicago, covered with snow. She was very thinly clad, and it was supposed had fallen down under the influence of intoxication, and frozen to death.

Charles Sumner, did he need more notoriety than he has already, by his last brilliant laconism, must go down to posterity in a very halo of glory, and perhaps with a handle to his name.

Let us repeat his wonderful letter to the present incumbent of the War Office:

To the Hon. E. M. Stanton:
SIR,
Sincerely yours,
CHARLES SUMNER.

FEBRUARY 21, 1868.
Stick! What wit, what conciseness, succinctness, and withal, what elegance! A man of less brains, of poorer intellect, might have said "Don't budge," or "Remain where you are," or "Keep to your post," but Stick! It is the incarnation of all terms; it has length, depth and thickness, and one is apt to relish such a word, to roll it in one's mouth, as a child does a sugar-plum, so as to suck from it its full flavor. It recalls Moliere's Penses Savantes and the rhymes of his poet.

But glorious as is the choice of the word "Stick," we think, like a melody once heard which haunts the mind, "Stick" must have been a familiar thing to the great Massachusetts statesman. As Macbeth ever saw the air-drawn dagger, so must this noble Senator have had before him poor Brooks' stick, which once descended on his magnificent back, raising welts and stripes.

Stick. Yes, the more we look at it, the more does it become the personification of the eloquent debator. Certain words fit exactly to certain men. We teach children about the "mischievous monkey," the cruel tiger, the greedy pig, the "stupid ass," uniting the characteristic trait of the animal itself, just as we say "Beast Butler," and why not "Stick Sumner?" Stick Sumner, let it be then, and we lift up our hat and kindly smile on this baptism.—Sacramento Daily Advertiser.

ENTERTAINMENT, LOCAL AND GENERAL.—A young man from Wilmore was arrested on Saturday for molesting a couple of oysters from a hotel in this place. The coats were recovered, however, and the boy liberated.

Jesse Kyle, of East Huntingdon township, Westmoreland county, committed suicide not long since by taking arsenic. He was married about a year or two since. We failed to learn anything as to the origin of the fire or the amount of the loss sustained.

Mr. James Wilkinson, the well known and skillful marble manufacturer at Loretto, presents his appeal for patronage in a new form in our paper to-day. The diamond jobs put up by him throughout the country are standing monuments of his capacity as a workman, and it cannot be denied that he does his work well and at the most moderate prices.

Rev. R. C. Christy, of the Catholic congregation here, requests us to return his heartfelt thanks to the members of Mary Pat's Church, Cameron Bottom, Indiana, country, for the prompt and generous manner in which they responded to his recent appeal on behalf of the good cause in which he is so much interested. He hopes that God will bless them all with abundance in this life and an eternity of happiness in the next.

LATEST FROM JOHNSTOWN.—By Tuesday night's mail, and through the politeness of John L. Scanlan, we are placed in possession of the following reports of the condition of this ice and about Johnstown, as given by a trustworthy and wide-awake correspondent, John Ball.

Thursday, March 10th.—About forty houses submerged by water, and as many families for the present are rendered homeless. The ice is packed in over the entire lower portion of the "Island" to the depth of six feet, and all the fences, outhouses, etc., are swept away. An extensive gorge is created at the "Stony Creek" where Mineral Point and also on the "Stony Creek" several places up. The breaking of the ice on the river is hourly expected, and it is feared that when it moves the lower end of Cambria borough will be endangered.

P. M.—Mineral Point gorge came down at 3 P. M., and ice packed up as far as the gorge. The lower end of this village was completely submerged. At half past 6 o'clock the ice commenced packing, moved down three or four hundred feet, leaving Woodvale clear, but inundating the greater portion of the "Island." Water is running into the old basin at Mechanical Works. The ice is again breaking. All the families on the "Island" are abandoning their houses. The "Stony Creek" is solid, but it is expected that it will break to-night. Excitement runs high, and every citizen of the town is out to see the flood. It is raining as I write.

At 8 P. M.—The lower end of Johnstown is flooded. The water reaching back to the street. On Portage street of the bridge the water is in some places two feet deep.

JOHNSTOWN, March 9, 1868.

Dear Freeman—Two gentlemen of color, who were located in the basement of Post-office buildings, as tonsorial artists, decamped last week, and as a little token of remembrance left a number of unpaid bills with several of our merchants. In the hurry of their departure they appear to have forgotten that several months' rent was due, as also a gas bill, perfunctory bill, and a variety of other little "williams." This surreptitious absquevalation was a barbarous affair, and it is hardly necessary to remind their victimized creditors that the colored troops fought "viciously."

The pupils attending our public schools gave an exhibition on Thursday evening, in the audience room of the M. E. church. The performances consisted of dialogues, plays, tableaux, &c., and considering that they had but a short time for preparation they acquitted themselves very creditably. That part of the performance which elicited most hearty applause was the recitation of "The Little Williams," in which Miss Sheridan, as the school nurse, and a little daughter of Dr. Walters as the mischievous scholar, particularly excelled. A performance entitled "Preparing for Examination" was also very good, and the young lady who personated the "Summer Queen" was as pretty as a picture with her first waterfall.

Quite a remarkable occurrence transpired here a short time ago which seems to illustrate the fact that this is a progressive age. A happy couple were united in the bonds of wedlock in a neighboring city, and the same evening took passage for this place. A few hours after their arrival the "blushing bride" presented her legs to a pair of married bachelors. Whether the "newly married" intended "fighting it out on this line" or not, I really can't say, but would suggest that at the ruling price of provisions they had better move to a less rapid pace.

An individual named Culbert was impeached last week for getting obstreperous, owing to taking on a cigar. The police had great difficulty in securing the imbecile gentleman, and only succeeded when some individual, who had doubtless read of the manner in which elephants are caught in the jungles of India, suggested the propriety of making a running nose of the imbecile, and dragging it over his feet and arms. Mr. Culbert was then hauled in a sled to the "bastille," where he had leisure to folly rove.

About 11 o'clock last night the ice began to move on the Conemaugh river, and as it broke rather unexpected, a number of people were injured. The writer hereof had just commenced writing his Freeman letter when the ice started, and as everybody was predicting that Woodvale, the locality where S. B. domiciles, would be submerged, and sympathizing friends were calculating his chances for a long trip down the river, I naturally felt a little nervous, and when I looked out upon the mountains of ice, crashing and grinding along, I began to fear that their predictions would be verified; but the ice passed off without doing any serious damage to the village. At the old aqueduct, it gorged, however, and backing the water to a considerable distance, and an entire portion of the third ward known as "Goose Island" was submerged. A house belonging to a German was swept away, but fortunately the inmates had escaped. The water rose to the second floor of nearly every house on this "Island," compelling residents to beat a hasty retreat to higher ground. A number of cows, hogs, &c., were drowned, but at present writing I am unable to form a correct estimate of the damage sustained.

SAT. BAL.

CARROLLTOWN, March 9, 1868.

Dear Freeman—The drizzling rain and warm winds of Friday and Saturday which succeeded the intensely cold and stormy weather of the early part of last week, have left our principal streets bare of snow, and many of our neighboring grain fields are entirely bereft of the protecting presence of the virgin mantle. Yesterday, too, was a bright, sunny day, and the large congregation of St. Benedict's took advantage of it to great mass the welcome presence of the venerable Abbot Weimar, who was among us, looking hale and hearty, as we hope he may continue to be for many long years to come.

Notwithstanding the rapid wasting away of the drifted snow that impeded travel on our northern roads they are yet in a sad condition, and give but little promise of improvement soon. As a consequence our embryo city is somewhat dull in a business point of view, and there is not much of note transpiring.

A little incident that occurred here not long since occasioned a remark that is so much like what the amiable Mrs. Partington would say, that I cannot help mentioning it. A venerable maiden lady, who had a few days prior celebrated her 70th birthday, noticed some boys raising the "flag" on the stripes, and as the national banner was unfurled and its folds caught by the breeze, a little girl exclaimed: "See the flag!" "O yes," said the old lady, "and long may it wag!" The listeners had occasion to immediately turn their faces in another direction, and the patriotic lady remained first the blissful consciousness that she had well expressed a patriotic and loyal sentiment.

Yours, Iago.

A CAMBRIA COMPLIMENT.—We notice in the proceedings of the Democratic State Convention that the name of Hon. P. F. Collins was introduced as a candidate for Surveyor General, and on the first ballot he was complimented with the highest number of votes cast—receiving 40 out of 128 votes, the balance being given to four other gentlemen named. Mr. Collins was not an aspirant for the office, nor was it sought by his friends to urge him for the position, as his name was withdrawn after the first ballot, but the compliment paid him was none the less handsome and voluntary on that account, and we are free to say that it could not have been bestowed on a more honorable or upright gentleman, nor one more entitled to the confidence and esteem of the citizens of this Commonwealth.

SPRING AT LAST.—The beautiful weather now prevailing seems to indicate that Spring has come at last, and in order to make room for an early arrival of spring goods Harry Shumaker will offer greater bargains than ever to all persons in want of dry goods, dress goods, &c. Come soon—come often.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.—The natal day of Ireland's patron Saint will be appropriately observed at the Catholic church in this place, by a solemn High Mass at 10 o'clock, and a sermon by Rev. E. Burns, of St. Augustine, this county.

next called for and spoke for some minutes, condemning the use of the term "infamous" in the poster calling the meeting.

R. L. Johnston, Esq., delivered a few remarks criticizing the bill and harmonizing the various feelings of the meeting by offering a substitute for the resolutions that had been previously offered, which resolution was unanimously adopted and the meeting adjourned.

FROM OVER THE WATERS.—All news from Johnstown may not emphatically be said to come from over the waters, and the latest and most cheering is to the effect that Jas. J. Murphy is still selling the best and ready-made clothing in that market at wonderful low prices. If you are there visit him if you are not there, go hence and see anyhow.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

CURE FOR FROSTED FLESH.—Nothing is better for withdrawing the frost, without injury, from frozen ears and cheeks than the immediate application of kerosene, rubbing it on gently a few times. In one instance both cheeks were frozen and this remedy produced immediate relief without the usual inflammation. The same person repeated the application in a similar case at another time, with equal success. In another case the remedy was applied to a badly frozen ear, which, as in the other instance, it cured without inflammation. It is indispensable that the application be made before thawing. This remedy is all the more valuable because it is generally at hand in every house.

ABOUT CARBON OIL.—To ascertain whether oil is pure and non-explosive, pour a small quantity upon a board or other smooth surface, and apply a piece of burning paper; if the oil ignites and creates a flame it is adulterated and explosive. Pure oil will not burn in the open air when thus tested, and its safety may be relied upon. Never blow down the chimney of a lamp to put out the flame, because the gas in the lamp occupying the space unfilled by oil is very combustible, and will, under certain circumstances, certainly explode.

TO PRESERVE HERBS.—All kinds of herbs should be gathered on a dry day, just before or while in blossom; tie them in bundles and suspend them in a dry, airy place with the blossoms downward. When perfectly dry wrap the medicinal ones in paper and keep them from the air; pick off the leaves of those which are to be used in cooking, pound and sift them fine, and keep the powder in closely corked bottles.

Some thirty years ago there appeared a statement in Gov. Hill's "Monthly Visitor," that worms in the head of sheep could be cured by simply taking whole oil, and with a feather putting it up the nostrils two or three times. It should be done in the spring, or whenever the symptoms of the disease make their appearance. Those who have tried it pronounce it a sure remedy.

COUGH CURE.—One who has tested its efficacy, and who is desirous of alleviating the barking which now afflicts our community, advises them to roast a large lemon very carefully, without burning it; when it is thoroughly hot, cut and squeeze it into a cup, upon three ounces of sugar, finely powdered. Take a spoonful whenever your cough troubles you.

DR. STONE, the eminent New Orleans physician, and who had a larger practice in fevers than perhaps fifty other physicians, declared that plenty of peach orchards are worth a thousand quarantines for the public health. "No more surgery," said the doctor; "eat stewed peaches if you would keep off indigestion."

FROZEN FEET.—The following is said to be a cure for frozen feet. Submerge the frozen parts in cold water, let them remain until all the frost is out, wipe them dry, and apply a salve made of equal parts of hog's lard and gun-powder ground together. The cure will be effected.

Prominent Characteristics.

I.—THEY ARE INSTRUCTIVE. "As purely literary works, these historical romances possess a high degree of merit. They read like genuine histories."—Catholic World.

"They are correct descriptions of the countries and the people described."—Herald.

II.—THEY ARE ENTERTAINING. "We regard these books as among the best and most entertaining novels of the day."—Springfield Republican.

The reader is at once fascinated and held spellbound until the volume is completed."—Free Press.

"There is no dull chapter in it."—Utica Herald.

III.—THEY ARE MIRRORS OF THE TIMES. "No one can peruse them without conceding the author's great skill in grasping and delineating the characters which figure conspicuously in them."

"The study which enables the author to delineate so accurately the emotions and incentives to action which moved men and women of a past age must be close and untiring, and Louisa Muhlbach shows in all of her books a perfection which carries the reader into the very presence of the characters represented."—Syracuse Journal.

IV.—THEY ARE HISTORICALLY CORRECT. "Historically correct, and as entertaining many of the volumes of Sir Walter Scott."—Providence Herald.

"Louisa Muhlbach must have carefully and diligently studied the secret histories of the times and countries of which she writes, and her task is done well and effectively."—Worcester Spy.

"No Historical Novelist has labored so faithfully to reproduce a complete picture of past times and events."—Utica Herald.

V.—THEY ARE ORIGINAL. "It has agreeably surprised readers to find a new writer with such constructive genius and knowledge of character as Louisa Muhlbach possesses."—Public Ledger.

"Each succeeding novel adds to Mrs. Mundt's reputation as a writer of historic fiction."—New York Times.

VI.—THEY ARE FULL OF IMAGINATION. "She is not only the skilful painter, but a near-landed artist."—Christian Witness.

"There is seldom any straining after effect, but it is really wonderful how Madame Mundt manages to sustain and increase the interest to the end."

"The world-painting of the authoress is much more effective than the best efforts of the engraver."—Illinois State Register.

VII.—THEY CONTAIN ANECDOTES OF COURTS. "Scottish history offered no fresher and more romantic material to the magic working hand of Sir Walter Scott than she finds in the annals of the German courts."—Evening Gazette.

"There are not to be found anywhere in human annals, unadorned, such magnificent, such superabundant materials for romance, as clog the chronicles of the Prussian and Austrian courts of the 18th century. By their dress, their manners, their modes of thought, their language, they are almost as now separated from us as if they had lived one thousand years ago."—Observer.

VIII.—THEY TELL ABOUT EMPERORS, KINGS, AND QUEENS. "We learn from her not only how Frederick William and Frederick the Great, Joseph the Second, Voltaire, Rousseau, Baron Trenck, the Empress Catherine, walked and talked in their grand robes, but how they powdered their hair, dined and took tea."—Liberator.

"The choice of her subjects exhibits her genius. She takes the time of Frederick the Great, Joseph the Second, for example, and the chronicles of the periods of facts which the bright and sombre colors, the light and shade of her fiction, with the skill of a consummate artist."—The Eagle.

IX.—THE STYLE IS INTERESTING. "The style of this writer for purity, perspicuity and elegance, is something greatly to be commended. It is free from imitations, mannerisms, and tricks of every kind."—The Argus.

"The interest of the book does not depend upon its characters or its incidents, nor yet on its charming style, but in its harmony of composition."—The Boston Herald.

X.—EVERYBODY IS READING THEM. "Our people seem to have stopped reading French novels, and English works are complained of as dull. Miss Muhlbach precisely supplies the public want."

"The novels of Clara Mundt are being read by every one."—Times.

"Muhlbach's novels have a world-wide reputation, and are read with avidity, as fast as issued from the press."—Springfield Republican.

"They are winning a wide and deserved popularity in this country."—State Journal.
